

Diners enjoy new fusion eaterie

MORE than 200 people tugged into dishes from around the globe at the opening of a new restaurant.

Guests flocked to Charlie Choys Pan-Asian Buffet and Lotus Lounge Vine Bar at the Centrum, in Woking, when it held its official lunch night last Tuesday.

Staff at the restaurant presented a variety of tasty dishes from India, Thailand and China for the big night.

Sushi rolls, freshly-made pizzas, Thai green curry and Chinese noodle stir-fries were enjoyed by the guests and washed down with a glass of champagne.

And while they tucked into a range of dishes, entertainer Mr Magic kept guests amused at their tables with card tricks and balloon modelling.

Rico Ahmed, partner at Charlie Choys, said: "The lunch was a great success. Our team worked extremely hard preparing for the event and with so many guests in attendance, there was a great atmosphere."

Carmen Easterby, event co-ordinator, added: "We would like to thank our suppliers, the business community and our guests for their support, and our special guest, the Mayor of Woking, Bryan Cross, for attending our launch with his wife, Helen."

Chef Miland Gurung cooked some wonderful dishes in view of diners, while the Mayor and Mayoress, Bryan and Helen Cross, (top) enjoyed tricks and balloon modelling, courtesy of Mr Magic, Paul Kingscote.